

City Manager Promises RESPECT

"There is nothing we do this first year that is more important than to truly respect each of our citizens, and to earn their respect by our actions," said Interim City Manager Bob Jean at the June 3 City Council retreat.

To illustrate this point and to communicate his management values to our staff and consultants, Jean promised that the City will act consistent with the following values and principles:

- R RESPECT, for all persons and individual differences;
RESPONSIBILITY, as individuals for our actions;
- E ETHICS, in personal and professional conduct;
- S CUSTOMER SERVICE, to the community and to each individual;
- P PERFORMANCE matters, efficient and effective work;
- E EXCELLENCE, where outputs exceed inputs;
- C COST-CONSCIOUSNESS, so public dollars are spent wisely;
- T TEAMWORK, yields better service; and TRUST is the basis of public service.
